

Lost Phrases and Terms - chronological

In the evening of the 29th July 2013 Alan Addison put a message on the FaceBook page regretting the fact that many Doric phrases and terms are being lost in the upcoming generations. He obviously touched a nerve. By the 27th of August there were 592 messages in reply. We have moved them to our website where they are easier to find. The list has not been edited so there may be repeats - and the spelling is very varied. In this document we have listed the items in chronological order.

Alan Addison

"Lost Phrases and Terms"...asked Joi at supper if she fancied a 'deed flee cemetery' ... not a clue what I was speaking about ... made me think how many phrases and terms are being lost in the upcoming generations. Arlene said a 'deed flee cemetery' was a common request when she worked in Donald's. We're a family that champion using Doric, even though, terms are being lost, like a 'snake' on a gate ...

Fiona Ogg mine at fine arlene! n used t love pinchin the ends we the icin on!! av tried t "speak pan loaf" on mony occasion alan n endup fa'n doo through!! even fone calls can b difficult!!lol xxxx

"Aye, black blake that's fit my mam said"... I responded in the realization of her question. A whole new conversation commenced regarding the wonder of the Doric from the recently "flitted" lowlands shoppie owners. A joy to witness when wee me only knew Doric and Miss Forbes' attempts to correct me lol. "It's not aye Anna, at school we say yes" bless her.

To some clood-edge I'd dauder furth an', feth,
Look ower an' watch hoo things were gyaun aneth.
Syne, gin I saw hoo men I'd made mysel'
Had startit in to pooshan, sheet an' fell,
To reive an' rape, an' fairly mak' a hell
O' my braw birlin' Earth,--a hale week's wark--
I'd cast my coat again, rowe up my sark,
An' or they'd time to lench a second ark,
Tak' back my word an' sen' anither spate,
Droon oot the hale hypothech, dicht the sklatch,
